HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use

Rogers taking the ground that the employment of women in public offices, was demoralising and disreputable and should be abandoned. The suggestion was repelled by Stevens and others.

Dawes, referring to the influence of politics on public affairs, told members of the House that they were slaves to vile politicians, from all parts of the country, who flocked to Washington last March and had been haunting members for last two months, to raise the salaries of the very offices they crawled for the first month after the inauguration. The La Grande Sentinel holds that the right to amend the Federal Constitution has a limit,' that the Fifteenth Amendment goes beyond that limit, and therefore will be invalid, though ratified by three fourths of the States This position is supported by the Sentinel with as much earnestness and gravity as if it really expected its party to build successfully and triumphantly upon it

Every day there are mutterings of discontent in the Democratic papers because the members of their party in Congress have not courage to come out boldly and unqualifiedly for repudiation The Oregon Herald now censures Mr Voorhees of Indiana, for not showing greater pluck in this matter and it calls him inconsistent because after alleging that the debt is fraudulent, he denies that he is a repudiator Let us wait a few weeks and see if the State Democratic Convention of Oregon will have more courage

The Albany Democrat in a leading article insists on the propriety of nominating a candidate for United States Senator, at the Democratic State Convention. There is evidently a good deal of fear among many of the party, that even if they should obtain a majority in the Legislature some of the members thereof will "sell out" if they get a chance and leave all the present aspirants at home Consequently they want this nomination made so that they can use the party lash to coerce those who might be disposed to yield to the seductive influences of gold, greenbacks or promises of office

The Evening Call in an article on the political situation in this State, considered in reference to our material interests, says "We are on the eve of great corporation enterprises that have selected this State as a field of investment What is State policy regarding them? Oregon capital has tended toward wool-growing, and we care not what may be the party designation of the individual who has embarked in the pursuit, he is a protectionist and an ally of the Republican party" This is well put, and a similar remark may be applied to a general manufacturing policy Our State is one of immense resources and possibilities, and it can be rightly developed only by the promotion of manufactures in all the multifarious forms in which they may be established here And it is only by protection against foreign competition that they can be established This is the policy of the Republican party, and it is the policy for the development of Oregon

Railroad Notes

We see by the Congressional Globe that when Senator Williams called up the Portland, Astoria and McMinnville railroad bill on the 1st inst, Senator Thurman (Dem) of Ohio declared that it was not the policy of Congress to aid in these numerous railroad grants, and the bill had to go over under the rules. The Evening Commercial of this city appropriately prints the debate on the subject under the head of, "Democratic Opposition to Oregon" We may add that the traditions of that party are all opposed to the fostering of internal improvements by the General Government

The dispatches say that Howard Chairman of the Senate Committee on Pacific Railroads, has reported a bill to issue bonds for the construction of the Northern Pacific The probability is that this is not a report in favor of the issue of bonds by the Government, but merely to regulate in some way the issue of bonds by the Company itself It is believed that the Committee would not report in favor of any further issue of Government bonds for any railroad whatever

The Canada Pacific Railroad is now exciting a good deal of attention among our northern neighbors They seem to think it can be built No doubt it can be, but not with the resources they now command We fear they have forgotten the tribulations of some English explorers who were looking for a railroad route through the Northern country a few years ago and whose experiences were given to the world through Harper's Magazine

A private letter from Washington informs us that Congressman Smith is preparing a bill to grant both the east side and west side roads an equal amount of land 20 sections per mile, for a distance of 200 miles south of Portland Beyond that point the old grant is to be left just as before It is claimed that this bill is fair to both sides because it does not propose for one more than for the other takes nothing from either and carries both grants far enough to ensure their consolidation into one road before any contest will arise as to who shall have what is beyond We have not full information in regard to the proposed bill but it strikes us from the meagre information at hand that those who are afraid of combinations and "monopolies will detect something in this scheme to be distrustful of inasmuch as its object or result would seem to be to consolidate all the railroad enterprises of Oregon and give the control of them into a very few hands

National Banks for the Pacific Coast

[illegible]

A Washington letter of February 3d states that after a prolonged discussion occupying the greater part of the day, the Senate passed the so called Currency Bill providing for an additional issue of $45 000 000 in circulating notes in lieu of the 3 per cent certificates to be returned ... and ... from banks ... notes to be issued to the extent of 80 per cent of the par value of the bonds deposited as security and 25 per cent of their amount to be held as a coin reserve and directing the transfer of $20 000 000 of national bank currency from States which have more than their proper proportion to States and Territories which have less after the latter have absorbed the $45 000 000 of the new issue In reporting the bill from the Finance Committee Senator Sherman amended the section which provides for the organization of national banks on a gold basis in glowing terms as a most important step towards the resumption of specie payments He said the Committee had received assurance that many such banks would be established in California and Oregon and in the cities of New York Charleston and New Orleans the latter requiring them for the transaction of their import ing and cotton business Mr Morton however believed that the experiment would not succeed in the Pacific States and agreed with the Secretary of the Treasury that the national paper currency was sure to take the place of hard money in that region now that the Pacific Railroad was completed He further expressed his conviction that the people of the Pacific Coast had lost largely in population and wealth by the course they had pursued on this question Messrs Stewart and Corbett took the ground that there could be no danger in trying the experiment and allowing banks on the Pacific an opportunity to organize under the provisions of the bill, which they believe would be willingly embraced.

In the course of the debate a general discussion arose as to the policy pursued by the Pacific States in holding on to a coin circulating medium The Pacific coast Senators justified that policy as pursued during the war Mr Corbett said

I wish to say at this point that I do not consider the action of the people of the Pacific coast as at all unfriendly to the Government of the United States If they had introduced the National Bank notes at that time it would have superseded and driven from the coast the entire amount of coin which would have gone to Europe and you would not have had the advantage at the close of the war of that gold to come East to aid you here, in order that you might eventually return to specie payments We now desire to help you do that by establishing our banks to issue paper based upon gold and United States stocks"

Mr Casserly made some remarks which were put with great directness and force

"It seems to be thought by some Senators that in California there is a constant resistance on the part of the people against the greenback currency and that almost sword in hand they stand at the point where the two currencies meet on the line of the Pacific Railroad for the purpose of preventing an influx of greenbacks upon the Pacific coast There can scarcely be a greater mistake The people of California have no objection to the presence of any amount of greenbacks in their State or upon that coast They never have objected to them. They have always taken them for what they were worth there They have taken them on the best terms, at three fourths of one per cent to one and one half per cent more than they were worth on this side of the continent, in ... either of the States represented by the two Senators [Mr. Howe and Mr Morton] who have spoken here to-day"

Without meaning to interrupt at any length the course of the remarks of the Senator from Indiana, I have to say that the position of California on this subject is a plain one There were two kinds of lawful money in the country shortly after the breaking out of the war One kind was gold the other kind was paper, and paper that was inconvertible. California, by provisions in her State Constitution had forbidden a paper currency, within her borders, consequently her basis for all business transactions was gold and silver These formed her standard of values To that system she adhered When the rest of the country changed she did not Yet it would not be true to say that she was hostile to the greenbacks She was always willing to receive them according to the settled standard, that is their value in gold and silver What is the objection to this course? She has had a statute of her own, which was merely declaratory of the law, that a man might contract in either kind of lawful money—coin or paper There was besides, undoubtedly, a strong public opinion in California, which ought to have prevailed in every State, that when a man made a contract to pay in gold, he ought not to be suffered to discharge it in convertible paper at a heavy discount The public opinion of California has been strong enough to treat such an attempt as dishonorable, and the man who made it as dishonored Who can gainsay this view? That is all there is about it

Nevertheless California merchants, many of them did pay in greenbacks debts due at the East for merchandise bought at coin rates, and made immense profits thereby

The San Francisco Bulletin's correspondent states that Mr Williams replied to the objections of Eastern Senators in a speech of great clearness and power the following portion of which will well repay perusal on the part of every one who takes an interest in this important subject

The people of the Pacific coast had a coin circulation at the time this currency was brought into existence The Senator from Indiana knows very well that it is altogether more difficult to pass from a coin currency to a paper currency than it is to pass from one kind of paper currency to another kind of paper currency The entire circulation of the Pacific coast consisted of gold and silver and it would have been exceedingly difficult if not disastrous for the people of that region of country to undertake to drive out that circulation and substitute therefor a depreciated and irredeemable paper

It is claimed here that the most desirable of all things is a resumption of specie payments and yet the people of the Pacific coast are censured because they did adhere to specie payments to a coin circulation that which is most desirable of all things It is admitted that on this side of the Rocky mountains the people only abandoned that system because they were compelled to do so by the power of the Government That power could not be exercised upon the Pacific coast and therefore the people there like the people here, preferred their local circulation and adhered to it I do not think they ought to be censured for that and I do not think any attempt should be made to excite any local prejudice against these people because it may be supposed that this bill will accommodate them with banking facilities.

Now, sir I undertake to say that the course pursued by the people of the Pacific coast has been an advantage and not an injury to the people of the United States Suppose they had adopted the national currency how much coin would there now have been in the country with which to resume specie payment Sir, if it had not been for the gold and silver which the Pacific States and Territories have furnished this country your national bank notes would be worth little more than the cost of the lampblack and rags out of which they are made Instead of doing an injury to the country they have circulated coin and kept it in the country and now it can be used to aid in the resumption of specie payments

I think the provisions of this bill will be of advantage to the people of that coast and I think it proper enough for Congress to accommodate all sections of the country Sir the Senator from Indiana stands here from day to day and argues in favor of despoiling New England of its circulation to provide for the South a region of country that was in rebellion against the Government He proposes to provide to accommodate that section of the country but whenever there is any thing in the bill that looks like accommodating the people of the Pacific coast he objects because they were untr... to the credit of the Government It seems to me that if we are to legislate specially for the benefit of any particular section particularly for the Southern States—and I do not object to that but on the contrary am willing and ... as ... we may with great propriety the special provisions in the bill that shall ... into the people of the Pacific coast

Somebody has suggested and I see an article in a morning newspaper to the same effect that the people of the Pacific coast are foreigners in ... ly to the country, and therefore there ought not to be any legislation to accommodate them The only accommodation that the people there will derive from this banking system will be that it will furnish them with a convenient medium of circulation Bills are much more convenient for ... and ... than gold and these ... be ... and used for all the purposes for which gold is to be used and are far more convenient ... business Sir will ... the country? ... I understand the Senator ... at this time that there is a scarcity of circulation that it is ... not to contract but ... increase the circulation Are we not called upon from all parts of the country to increase the circulation if possible ... to accommodate the people with money facilities? This portion of the bill proposes to do that ... is objected ... why are asking for ... that this ought not to be done

I ... that the paper provided for by this bill will be a paper that will circulate in all parts of the United States will ... a paper that will be convertible ... will familiarize the people of this country with the system which we are trying to establish ... of paper circulation convertible into coin Let the people see ... paper but them use it ... to understand its value and gradually by the development of ... will be ... specie payments ... we shall resume specie payments ... paper circulation which will be at all times convertible into coin

ORO FINO THEATER.—The present season of the Bates Company at Oro Fino, will close to-night, with a benefit for Mrs Bates The bill contains the excellent domestic drama of "Dot, or the Cricket of the Hearth," dramatized from one of the very best of Dickens' minor stories and the racy and laughable farce of "The Married Rake" in both of which Mrs. Bates will appear in favorite characters, supported by the entire strength of the company. "Dot" has been played here once or twice already, but we doubt if any bill of the season has given a ... real satisfaction to the audience. The Coral Insect

Chief among the wonders of the ocean is the coral insect In the vast waters of the Pacific Ocean in the Mediterranean in the South Sea, and particularly in the Laccadives and Maldives of the Arabian Sea are to be found the greatest works of these insects Their result is wonderful From seemingly unfathomable depths the coral reef steadily rises lengthening and widening until its summit breaks through the surface and suddenly discloses to the world an island in mid ocean

Prof Schele De Vere has written an interesting book on the Wonders of the Great Deep (published by G P Putnam & Son New York) from which we take the following account of the life and habits of the coral insect The Professor has made a very interesting book although its style is not the most desirable one in which to present the subjects of which he treats Our judgment of the work would lead us to strike out most of the mythical stories and give exclusively facts as they are known Its value would have been much enhanced had this rule been allowed

DESCRIPTION OF THE CORAL

“They are altogether a strange mysterious race these Maidens of the Sea as the ancient Greeks used to call them Their beauty of form and color their marvellous economy their gigantic edifices all had early attracted the attention of the curious and given rise to fantastic fables and amusing errors

“In hot summer months when the waters are bringing forth, as in the days of the creation the moving creatures that have life millions of diminutive jelly like spawn are thrown out by the parent animal For a while they enjoy their freedom, and seem to luxuriate in the power of their locomotion which they are never hereafter to recover but soon they become weary, and settle down upon some firm stationary body At once they begin to change their form they become star like, the body being surrounded by tentacles very much like the center of a flower is surrounded by its leaves After some time, each one of these ray like parts pushes out extensions which in their turn assume the shape of tiny stars and establish their own existence by means of an independent mouth In the mean while lime has been deposited at the base of the little animal by its own unceasing activity, and forms a close fitting foot, which adheres firmly to the rock Upon this slender foundation arises another layer, and thus by incessant labor, story upon story until at last, a tree has grown up with branches in all directions But where the plants of the upper world bear leaves and flowers these buds here from the hard stone a living sensitive animal, moving at will and clad in the gay form and bright colors of a flower

“This flower is the animal itself, seen only in its native element, and unfit for air and light What we call coral is its house, outside of which it prefers to live rather than within How they build their dwelling, human eye has never seen We only know that the tiny animals, by some mysterious power given them by the same great Master on high who has given us a body after his image, and immortal soul, absorb without ceasing the almost imperceptible particles of lime which are contained in all salt water and deposit them one by one in the interior This is done now more, now less actively, and the denser the deposit is, the more valuable the coral Gradually this substance hardens and thickens, until in the precious coral, the lea Nobilis of science, a large tree is formed, which often reaches the size of a man's waist. It is perfectly solid and compact, and adorned on the surface with delicate, parallel lines. Thus on the tree shaped limestone grows the life-endowed body of the polypus, it moves, it feeds, it produces others, and then is turned again into stone, burying itself in its own rocky house, while on its grave new generations build unceasingly new abodes ”

WORKS OF THE MADREPORES

“Far away from the Mediterranean, in the vast waters of the Pacific Ocean, and amid the South Sea Islands, a kindred race of the true coral, the Madrepores, have been at work for countless generations They are the humbler brethren, unadorned with beauty, and unable to furnish man with costly jewels But as everywhere in Nature the humbler is the more useful, and the smaller the more powerful, so here also These corals have raised, by indefatigable labor, colossal structures, by the side of which the walls of ancient Babylon, the Chinese wall, and the Pyramids of Egypt dwindle into dwarfish proportions. Amid the most violent storms, and in the most agitated seas where wind and waves would easily destroy the grandest works devised by the skill of man, they erect their marvellous edifices—architects so feeble and magnificent, that, when they are drawn out of their element, they vanish, and can hardly be perceived.

“Their great works either stretch out far into the ocean like huge barriers in continuation of the natural coast, or they form gigantic rings of [illegible] formed, and at last a habitation is prepared for man himself The little polypi find themselves in strange company First, there are the only enemies which they are as yet known to have. Outside the reef, as well as inside of the lagoon, but always within reach of the coral rocks, large shoals of small fishes are found, which actually feed upon the pulpy, leathery substance of the polyp, and secrete the indigestible material it contains, thus producing a kind of calcareous pulp which soon changes into fertile soil and serves as an excellent ground for palm trees and other plants But as the eater is always eaten in all nature, so here also the avenger is at hand Hungry dogs are waiting patiently on the reefs and shallows, and as soon as the voracious fish rises to the surface, where he finds the tender pulpus they pounce upon their prey, and swallow it eagerly On shore where the graceful palm trees flourish a feast is provided for another class of hungry claimants With a heavy thump a cocoanut falls upon the hard ground, shaken down, before it is perfectly hardened, by a sudden gust, at once land crabs are seen hurrying up at the sound of the simple dinner bell, and one of them seizes it, bores with its long, sharp claws into one of the eyes, where the shell is softest and sucks with delight the sweet, milky juice. In fragile boats, daring Malays come from far and near, and dive into the thick grove of coral trees, where they are sure, at all seasons, to find a valuable variety of turtle, which often reaches the enormous weight of a hundred and twenty pounds As soon as they perceive one of these monsters they chase it and try to drive it into shallow water or at least by constant, skillful hunting to and fro to exhaust it, so that they can approach quite near As soon as this has been accomplished, an active agile man jumps upon the back of the turtle takes hold of the slender neck, and riding boldly on his strange mount, profits by the first firm footing he can obtain to use it as a lever and to turn the animal on its back, when it falls an easy prey to its captors

RAILROAD MATTERS are very likely to be lively this spring The East Side Company will engage a large force of men to complete their road to Albany and the West Side Company will very probably build a portion of their road in order to obtain a land grant to facilitate the building of their line to McMinnville Kohn & Fishel are keeping up with railroad times Their stock of spring goods coming across the continent by rail will be the largest and finest stock of Clothing ever imported to this State. Their stock in store now is offered very low to make room for large arrivals They are manufacturing the neatest Boys Suits and always have on hand a large stock of the same which are offered at lowest figures

VALUABLE.—The recent bill before Congress granting aid for the construction of a railroad from the Columbia river to Puget Sound if passed will make the large tracts of coal and timber lands owned by the Puget Sound Homestead Association on the Skookum Chuck and Newaukum very valuable

A few shares only remain untaken and can be had at the office of the Secretary or of Mr Conklin Canvassing Agent

REMOVAL.—J W Campbell has removed his new Patent Bed Bottom manufactory to Messrs Jensen & Rethlefsen s Cabinet and Carpenter shop southeast corner of Morrison and Fourth streets Although but recently introduced the Minnesota Bed Bottom is fast coming into general use and is giving general satisfaction Come and see it j28tf m

The Living Machine.

Injure the main spring of a watch and every portion of the works becomes disordered The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs, and controls, to a certain extent, the whole living machine The comparison may be carried further: for as the weakness or other imperfections of the main spring is indicated on the face of the timepiece, so also is the weakness or other disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid The complexion is sallow or faded the eyes are deficient in luster and intelligence, and there is a worn anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body, and to sustain and renew all its parts is not performing its duty It requires renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this end Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to be the one thing needful The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened, and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopoeia have been exhausted without, at best doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of this wholesome and palatable, yet powerful stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is [illegible] affected, and upon this important gland, as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness, regulating and re-invigorating every secreting and stimulating organ on which bodily and mental health depend.

With foreign commerce crushed, trade stagnated, retail business dwarfed, ts unavoidable effect, with ruin; public tinguished; and every artery of material dustrial prosperity hermetically sealed It is not altogether surprising, though to must be extremely painful, to find the dually becoming more important and dis and at last pursuing the extra[illegible] rticle of an English community, with an out-spoken unanimity, in point of wealth [illegible] asking a dissolution of their allegiance y may join their destiny with that of their n neighbors. Viewed from an American int, the recent able and voluminous cor ance in our local [illegible] boldly advocating tion, and the sympathising sentiment private, ought to attract American cap l population in this really rich country, for some sudden interposition takes place by change of circumstances are realizes, no doubt annexation eventually, perhaps at nt day, will be the destiny of this coun lready it is [illegible] in all quarters, that however figuratively beautiful, will not business responsibilities or increase trade, more than love will pay house-rent, or sup family. The [illegible] motive in is essentially and, no doubt at [illegible] t, much of the ing desire for change, springs from selfish the basest of human passions But how is in this country; if the American wish ents it, both must study this question by own interest, the former especially, must it quickly, or the country is lost to them the growth of this selfishness two things [illegible] ving immediately upon connection with the future prospects of an ; viz: Confederation with Canada, and a gold this summer from the new Peace river If either restore prosperity, or give a [illegible] of prosperity, we shall most proba ar nothing more of an [illegible] for years to Against annexation, as a principle, of no American citizen can contend, because e principle of their own country and Govern it is, moreover, the principle for which lately died by millions, and finally achieved greatest moral victory the world ever knew, [illegible] for all men, irrespec f condition [illegible] All Americans must this position [illegible] at the same time ledge that [illegible] may do for is not it has done for America. One thing is certain, the present f things cannot remain much longer. The n then comes, have the combined govern of England and Canada the power at their to accomplish this strong and immense ration upon which to be built up the "Great dom" within their American possessions in se British Columbia, the keystone of the e edifice? Not being in executive secrets, nable to answer this question in any way, ny degree. Both England and Canada, we d, are thoroughly alive to the great emer of the case, and doubtlessly the grand with its implied conditions, and actual ts of success, will be severely ventilated approaching session of the Legislature an, when the Government must unfold its with the prospect of its consummation it be unjust and futile in outsiders like my go further than I have gone and answer stion simply by starting suppositions im ties. In the accomplishment of great de e present age, like Napoleon in his wars rne, knows no impossibilities I am the n to question the ability of England in skill, and material power, to do every merica has done or can do, and to do it well. But while every person admits this and fully a lingering doubt pervades the litic, whether she has the means at hand to e the physical difficulty of time, and thus keystone of the edifice of her future em n this continent. If she has, there can oubt confederation will be accomplished nother year rolls round; if not equally it is, annexation will be demanded—de too by a voice no monarch yet die with impunity no army silenced by num e inexorable will of a people [illegible]

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies so that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted to th se who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue foetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

What the Hon W T Ballou says about the King of Pain

San Francisco Dec 1 1869

Dr J J McBride—Having suffered with sciatic rheumatism some months, I was induced to use your King of Pain I take pleasure in recommending it to those afflicted with rheumatism I know of several cases of neuralgia that have been cured by using it

San Francisco Dec. 2, 1869

To Dr McBride—This is to certify that I have been troubled with neuralgia in my right arm and hand for the past three months and although I have had medical advice and tried a number of remedies none has relieved me until I tried Dr McBride s King of Pain, which has done me more good than all the other remedies I have tried JAMES B [illegible]EMAN

DR. J. J. M'BRIDE,

TELLS YOUR DISEASE WITHOUT ASKING ANY QUESTIONS!

A CARD.

San Francisco Oct 16 1869

DR McBRIDE—My Dear Sir: For the last six or seven years I have been afflicted with rheumatic pains, from my knees down, embracing all the joints of ankle and toes These pains have come upon me periodically every year about this season of the year. My knees and ankles, and toes, and my wrists and finger joints would swell and leave me in the most agonizing pain, known only to those who have suffered from this dread malady These pains would continue for a period of from three to four months every year, and they have been regular, unfailing annual visitors I have been accustomed to apply for relief to the best citizens of San Francisco and have not failed to use all the popular remedies known to the public I would sometimes receive [illegible] relief, after long continued application but it would never fail to return in a few days with increased severity

About two weeks ago, while my pains were upon me I saw you at the corner of one of our streets, and heard what you said about your "King of Pain I confess that I listened to you with deep distrust Indeed, I may say that I did not believe your statements "Still" thought I it s only a dollar and I ll patronize the 'humbug' one dollar s worth I bought a bottle and tried it first on my knee, which was fearfully swollen and from which I suffered very severely The second night I tried it again and my dear Doctor you can judge of my surprise ecstacy and delight, altogether when I found on rising the second morning that my pains were entirely gone and the swelling entirely disappeared My knee joints were as supple as when I was young I actually danced with delight much to the amusement of my friends, who had been in the habit of regarding me as a decrepid old rheumatic It has now been two weeks, and I have not felt the least symptom of return I believe I am cured, and I feel so grateful to you that I offer you this statement verified by my oath to be used by you in whatever way you may think proper and I feel it a duty to let others similarly afflicted know where they can find relief.

I am yours very truly RAPHAEL LOOKAYSE

State of California city and county of San Francisco On this 16th day of October 1869 personally appeared before me a Justice of the Peace in and for the city and county of San Francisco aforesaid Raphael Lookayse known to me to be the person who signed the foregoing letter and who being by me duly sworn deposes and says the contents thereof are true

TO THE PUBLIC

Grateful for the eminent services of Dr J J McBride I heartily make a statement of the following facts For twelve months I had suffered from prostration of my nervous system resulting in partial paralysis and in almost total loss of sight A score of physicians had abandoned my case as hopelessly incurable I had every hour of my days numbered by doctors and friends In the agonies of my neuralgia pain I sought the great King of Pain Under that benign influence I once fail[illegible] had [illegible] the medical aid than I had known [illegible] weary months My sight was so much restored that I could read print although I had needed a guide to find Dr McBride s office [illegible] before [illegible] I had regained the use of my almost paralized limbs and seemingly my strength had returned while all those aches and pains my constant companions, were dissipated and gone It is now ten days since I undertook treatment with Dr McBride and I can say unhesitatingly that I am restored as I could not have expected to have been in so little time My eyesight is in st perfectly regained my [illegible] ected and [illegible] doubted health

My residence is in Redding [illegible] No 6, Cambridge [illegible] in this city where I w[illegible] willingly [illegible] that [illegible] ny one terested
